1.1. Only digital copies with .DV and .MOV formats will be accepted. The short film must not be divided, it must be presented in a single file. 3. The copies of short films used for exhibition purposes and the copies of short films for pre-selection (DVD copy and Digital Copy) will not be sent back. It is the director or producer's job to contact the festival via email to: contacto@festivalkinoki.com at the end of the festival. If, for a period of 5 months, there's no response from the director or producer, the festival will decide to do what's more appropriate with the copies.

4. The festival reserves the right to make a copy of the winner short films for promotion purposes. (IMPORTANT: The festival will not perform any gainful activity with the submitted material). The producers authorize the reproduction of the short film for promotion purposes when they agree to participate in the festival's competition.

AWARDS

1. The awards presented to the winners will be in cash and/or in kind to promote young creator cinematographic projects. These awards will come along a diploma and a statuette.

2. The jury will establish the criterion for winner short films. Once the decision is made, along with the festival's Direction Department, this agreement will be final.

2.2. The members of the Jury will consist of national film industry professionals. The members of the Festival and Universidad Iberoamericana's Communications Department will elect the members of the Jury.

3. Under these conditions, a single short film will be pronounced winner per category:

BEST INTERNATIONAL SHORT FILM
BEST NATIONAL SHORT FILM
BEST FICTION SHORT FILM
BEST DOCUMENTARY SHORT FILM
BEST ANIMATION SHORT FILM
BEST EXPERIMENTAL SHORT FILM

4. All the prizes will be delivered within no more than six months, starting from the festival's last day, which means that, by April 10th, 2015, all of the winners must have their prizes physically. In case of the prize consisting in a post-production process, the winners will receive a voucher with expiration date from the company that validates the prize. Once the vouchers are given, the winner's approach with the company is not the festival's responsibility, giving the winner the full responsibility to validate the prize within the agreed time with the company. Winners will agree on signing a certificate when their prizes or vouchers are handed in.

5. If needed, the prizes will be given in a 50/50 arrangement between the short film's producer and director.

6. The winner short film's producers explicitly authorize Universidad Iberoamericana, the members of the Festival or whoever these may assign, to save a copy of the short film for the festival's archive, so it can be used for promotional purposes (not gainful ones). This copy will be used according to the Film Library Deposit contract established in the International Federation of Film Producers Association (F.I.A.P.F for its Spanish acronym).

7. Student filmmakers authorize the festival for any use of the short film for distribution purposes, whether graphic or audiovisual media and Internet, without their explicit consent.

This Regulation has been translated to English. In case of doubts, the Spanish version is the official one and will be the only one that could carry some kind of clarification.

A short film's submission is equivalent to accepting this Regulation's terms and conditions, which interpretations and applications are Universidad Iberoamericana's Administration Board job, noting the agreements in the National Regulation.
